

Working with a Metaphor is a recently published paperback (2021 Orpen Press, Dublin) by Dr. Bernadette O'Sullivan, a former teacher in the Clanwilliam Institute of Family Therapy. Ruth Eustace contributes a chapter. This book is now available on application to the Institute.

Working with a Metaphor describes theoretical and practical explorations which can enhance not only professional psychotherapy and supervision practice but also everyday living experience. It is envisaged as a resource for professional therapists, counselors and supervisors but also for learners and potential learners in the field.
